Process Technology, Inc. Expands Coverage into Colorado and Wyoming

Salt Lake City, May 1, 2019 - Process Technology, Inc (PTI) along with Mettler-Toledo Process Analytics, Inc (MT) announces an expansion of territory within Colorado and Wyoming.

Process Technology, Inc. (PTI) has expanded its presence into Colorado and Wyoming by representing Mettler-Toledo Process Analytics (MT) to its network of power, refining and chemical facilities. For over 30 years, PTI 's expertise has identified and solved the toughest process solutions for industry in the Rocky Mountain Region.

"Our Colorado/Wyoming team will offer industry of all sizes the opportunity to strengthen their automated processes cleanly and efficiently," says PTI CEO Chris Wheat. "We are ready to provide the Front Range territory the innovative applications and customer service that Mettler's Process Analytic products bring."

PTI has an established team in the Front Range. Sales Engineers, Aaron Mooney, Rich Robins and Applications Engineer, Brian Waslo have the technical industry expertise that have enabled chemical, water and micro related industries to prosper. Based in the PTI Denver office, Brian states, "With the addition of Mettler's products and solutions, we have an opportunity to enhance the productivity of new and existing manufacturing processes."

The PTI territory expansion of Mettler-Toledo products, specializing in power, mining and wastewater systems will give the Front Range Region a sales and support team who are "Experts at the Heart of Industry" and have built a business based on reliability and customer service.

About Process Technology, Inc. (PTI) - Process Technology, Inc., located in Salt Lake City, Utah, has been solving process control and factory automation challenges since 1986. With branch offices located in Arizona and Colorado, we serve industrial B2B customers in Utah, Wyoming, Southern Idaho, Northern Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, and Montana.

Our people are highly qualified, experienced professionals who are experts in process control and factory automation. We all share a deep commitment and dedication to our customers and vendors.

Contact: Chris Wheat, PTI CEO
801-264-1114
chrisw@process-tech.com